Stella Davidson remains under home hospice care and continues to do well even though she is confined to a wheelchair. Stella is now living with her daughter. Keep Gregory Manning in your prayers. Gregory is a member of our local church while being incarcerated. You may write him at: G C Manning # 1428856 2101 FM 369 North Iowa Park, TX 76367 these questions come in time. As a new generation experiences the tender love and instructions of their parents they begin to recognize the why of all their upbringing. Moms, dads, and grandparents have seen much sin in their days. Parents and grandparents have felt the sting of sin and they have witnessed the painful consequences of sin in the lives of others. There is great concern that a child will develop a rebellious attitude of disobedience toward God and so we press forward in our teaching and nurturing of our children in great hope of instilling our love for God within their hearts.

Most all true Godly people can relate to this Psalm. We have seen the rebellious, disobedient, and irreverent behavior of generations gone by and present. We watch and listen to class mates, peers, and coworkers ruin their lives with sin. Our earnest desire is to make a difference in the lives of not only our immediate families but the world over. Asaph sets out to open the eyes of the world to rebellion and disobedience toward God. You and can do this same thing if we will do the following things. First, let us teach the world the value of truth. If my children, peers, or coworkers do not see the value of truth it is very likely that they will not be faithful and reverentially obedient to God and his laws. Secondly, we should teach the world that there are awful and eternal consequences to sin. Those who live in sin live with trouble. Thirdly, we should teach all men to be grateful for the blessings they have in this life. To murmur and complain about things in life is to be separate from God. Fourthly, let us teach our fellow man about the frailty and shortness of life. No matter how fun, exciting, or pleasurable some things may seem they are not worth an eternity of suffering. Fifthly, we must teach the world that God is patient; however, his patience is not forever. All people will die and give account for the deeds done in their bodies while among the living. Sixth, we should teach our fellow man to open their eyes to good and evil. Lastly, we may make a difference in the lives of others by teaching them that God has his elect remnant that will always serve him faithfully.

Psalms 86

"1 Incline your ear, O LORD, and answer me, for I am poor and needy.
2 Preserve my life, for I am godly; save your servant, who trusts in you--you are my God.
3 Be gracious to me, O Lord, for to you do I cry all the day.
4 Gladden the soul of your servant, for to you, O Lord, do I lift up my soul.
5 For you, O Lord, are good and forgiving, abounding in steadfast love to all who call upon you.
6 Give ear, O LORD, to my prayer; listen to my plea for grace.
7 In the day of my trouble I call upon you, for you answer me.
8 There is none like you among the gods, O Lord, nor are there any works like yours.
9 All the nations you have made shall come and worship before you, O Lord, and shall glorify your name.
10 For you are great and do wondrous things; you alone are God.
11 Teach me your way, O LORD, that I may walk in your truth; unite my heart to fear your name.
12 I give thanks to you, O Lord my God, with my whole heart, and I will glorify your name forever.
13 For great is your steadfast love toward me; you have delivered my soul from the depths of Sheol.
14 O God, insolent men have risen up against me; a band of ruthless men seeks my life, and they do not set you before them.
15 But you, O Lord, are a God merciful and gracious, slow to anger and abounding in steadfast love and faithfulness.
16 Turn to me and be gracious to me; give your strength to your servant, and save the son of your maidservant.
17 Show me a sign of your favor, that those who hate me may see and be put to shame because you, LORD, have helped me and comforted me."
